GOT THAT CREEPY FEELING?

There's a spectre haunting the ninth floor and its name is APARTHEID.

Dear workers of 900 3rd Avenue - and neighbors,

Do you get a cold feeling every time you enter the building? There's a reason for it. The ghost of apartheid has settled on the ninth floor. After being chased out of its storefront location on Fifth Avenue, South African Airways has taken to hiding in your building.

South African Airways says these contradictory things:

- they are merely "business engaged in selling airline tickets and promoting tourism in South Africa."

- "their premises are used by the Government of the Republic of South Africa for official business and for diplomatic and consular purposes."

South African soldiers are transported by South African Airways to fight in Angola and Namibia and to repress uprisings in the townships of South Africa. South African Airways also transports uranium from Namibia to England and Western Europe. The ambassadors of apartheid, government documents and entertainers who don't support the cultural boycott of South Africa also travel on South African Airways.

Two months ago a number of anti-apartheid activists barricaded themselves inside the office of South African Airways and disrupted business for over three hours. More protests will be taking place soon.

Do you want agents of apartheid in your building? Do you want agents of apartheid in New York City?

People the world over have apartheid on the run. Let's not give it hiding space here.

BE A GHOSTBUSTER!

MAKE YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD AN APARTHEID-FREE ZONE

What you can do right now:

Call up South African Airways at 212-826-0395. Express your outrage at length. Tie up their phones.

Engage S.A.A. employees in discussions about racism.

Ask us for SHUT IT DOWN stickers. Put them up.

Help us leaflet. Come to meetings. Join in our actions.

More and more workers are taking control of their workplaces. Insist on your workplace being apartheid-free.
