Dear Friend:

On Tuesday, March 28th at 3:30 P.M. Chase Manhattan Bank is holding its Annual Stockholders' Meeting at the headquarters at 1 Chase Manhattan Plaza. At this time those of us concerned with the involvement of American banks in loaning money to the South Africa apartheid regime and economy are planning to hold a protest demonstration. We hope that you and your friends will be with us on the 28th, as a constant reminder to the bank and to the American public, that some Americans do not approve of Chase Manhattan's financial support of South Africa.

While we are demonstrating outside of the bank, there will be several people inside the meeting who are bank stockholders raising the question of Chase's policy towards granting loans to the South African government. Even though we are not stockholders we can demonstrate our support for their actions, as well as participate in the continuation of the campaign of the Committee of Conscience Against Apartheid for disengagement from South Africa.

Enclosed is a leaflet announcing the demonstration, and we would appreciate your aid in publicizing this event. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Janet I. Maclaughlin

P.S. If you would like more leaflets, call me at the ACOA office.
