Dear Friends,

In the last months, the Africa Research Group has decided to reorganize its resources in an attempt to tie anti-imperialist work more closely to ongoing struggles in the United States. A new group, the Africa Information Service (AIS), based in New York City, will carry on the research and educational work on imperialism and liberation struggles, linking this work more directly with local organizing and educational activities in this country. The materials, library and resources of ARG have been transferred to this new group, providing greater access for groups and individuals with a committed interest in using them. We hope that people who need information, have requests, or wish to make use of these resources will contact AIS. The Africa Research Group sees this new group as a most important force in bringing issues of American imperialism in Africa to the attention of the American people. The address is:

Africa Information Service
112 West 120th Street
New York, NY 10027.

Thus, ARG as such will cease to exist in September 1972; we are confident, however, that the kind of work we have been doing will continue and expand.

In order to make past ARG publications more widely available and to encourage the expansion of related work, the Africa Research Group has prepared for publication two books: a revised version of Race to Power, the struggle for Southern Africa, including new chapters on Mozambique, Angola and Guinea-Bissau; and an anthology of ARG articles and pamphlet excerpts, including a guide to doing similar work. Both books will be published by Doubleday in the Spring of 1973.

The ARG pamphlets that are still in print will be distributed by the New World Resource Centre; orders for literature should be addressed to them (and checks made out to their name) at:

New World Resource Centre
2546 N. Halstead
Chicago
Illinois 60614.

(Race to Power is no longer available)
