No One Can Stop The Rain

ANGOLA AND THE MPLA: FROM WAR TO LIBERATION

by George M. Houser and Herb Shore

Here in prison
rage contained in my breast
I patiently wait for the clouds to gather blown by the wind of history

No one can stop the rain

-- from "Here in Prison"
by Agostinho Neto
PIDE Prison
Luanda, July 1960

- The history of the resistance of the Angolan people to Portuguese colonialism
- the formation, problems, growth and triumph of the MPLA
- an analysis of two wars of liberation - against the Portuguese and all foreign intervention
- the role of the US
- national reconstruction in Angola today.

THE AFRICA FUND (Associated with The American Committee on Africa)
305 E. 46th St. • New York, N.Y. 10017

My organization/bookstore is interested in distributing

NO ONE CAN STOP THE RAIN. Please send copies at bulk rate and bill us. Rate:$1.50 each; over 10, $1.00

Please send review copy to our publication.

Please send one copy and bill me. (Please do not include payment)

Name ________________________________
Organization __________________________
Address ________________________________
City __________ State ______ Zip _______