DISCUSSION OF STRATEGIES FOR AMERICA

FILMS ON THE STRUGGLES OF LIBERATION MOVEMENTS

A daylong conference analyzing the task of the liberation movements in the countries comprising the white stronghold of Southern Africa will be held on Saturday, March 22, the day after the commemoration of the Sharpsville Massacre. These "unknown revolutions" are being fought by Africans for the right to govern themselves and for basic human freedoms, yet they are largely unheard of by the American public. The conference will view in detail the revolutionary movements in Rhodesia, the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique, South West Africa, and of course South Africa itself. Discussion groups will look at the role of American government and business in Southern Africa and analyze possible strategies for the American scene.
