INVESTORS IN APARTHEID

U.S. FIRMS WITH SUBSIDIARIES IN SOUTH AFRICA

The more South Africa moves from racial skirmishes to sustained racial struggle, the more urgent the issue of U.S. commercial involvement becomes. Supporters of U.S. investment assert that a U.S. corporate presence can exert a moderating influence on the policies of the white minority government in South Africa. Opponents say that it has not in fact done so and that the sooner the minority government is cut off from its external supports, the better the chances that it will come to terms with the black majority, advance the cause of justice and avoid an out-and-out bloodbath.

The following list of U.S. firms with subsidiaries, branches, representatives, licensees, and affiliates in the Republic of South Africa is based on a list compiled by the U.S. Department of Commerce and published in Resource Development in South Africa and U.S. Policy (U.S. House of Representatives, Committee on International Relations, hearings, 1976), augmented by the names (obtained through the Freedom of Information Act) of a number of firms that listed South African subsidiaries in applying to the U.S. State Department for registration as munitions manufacturers and exporters.

The list shows the amazing extent to which American products -- from Otis elevators and Owens-Corning fiberglass to Pfizer medicines, Champion spark plugs, Squibb toothpaste and Playtex bras -- are a part of everyday South African life.

For suggestions on organizing local activities on Southern Africa issues, see Action Guide on Southern Africa ($1); for background, Southern Africa Must Be Free (75¢); both available from PED Resources, AFSC, 1501 Cherry St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19102.

This list was compiled by NARMIC (National Action/Research on the Military Industrial Complex), a project of the American Friends Service Committee. Updates will be published as new information becomes available. For more copies write NARMIC, 1501 Cherry St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19102. Single copies, 35¢ each plus 15¢ postage; ten or more, 20¢ each. Also available: Crisis in Zaire: Background Report (50¢)
